2. PERSONNEL

As a former supervisor, [] was queried as to the qualifications and suitability of [] for assignment to []

[] As an overseas employee of FE/4 [] was a superior linguist and somewhat troublesome personality. He had an exaggerated opinion of his competence as a case officer. According to [] performance as a junior (GS-11) case officer [] considerable improvement. He was a very hard worker, produced well, and "got into no serious trouble." [] not be favorably considered despite his truly extraordinary capabilities as a linguist and his experience as an operational interpreter and junior case officer. [] shares this view.

4. CA/PRG

LAS, OS, and SIC have provided or are preparing course schedules, bibliographies, and other selected reading materials to be forwarded to CA/PRG in response to [] oral request. [] has been briefed on this matter and is receiving copies of our transmittal memoranda. She is not providing any material, however.

5. FI Publications

Some confusion attended the distribution of copies of [] [] dated 1 August 1960: "The Intelligence Collection Cycle: Collection at Small Posts." After discussing this one with [] C/PPS called [] to congratulate him on this new publication and to arrange for better distribution to OTR of subsequent ones in this series. No. 1 was essentially a trial balloon, and is out of print. A few stray, extra copies may return to FI, and these will be sent to PPS. Prior to printing each later issue, [] will check with PPS to see how many copies are needed for OTR use and will distribute that number to us.

6. Educational Specialist

On Wednesday, [] attended the Industrial College of the Armed Forces lecture on "Scientific Approaches to Decision Making" given by Dr. Charles H. Kepner.

25X1

The fourth Instructor Training Course was presented to LAS during this week. This, according to [] will be the last one since all of his contract and staff personnel, with the exception of two, have been through the course.
